PREFACE

IN the year 1888 the Rev. William Edward Buckley and Mr. Falconer Madan published 'The Brasenose Calendar: a List of Members of the King's Hall and College of Brasenose in Oxford (1509–1888)'. This was based upon the manuscript list compiled from College and University Registers as far as 1782 by the Rev. John Holmes, and continued to 1814 by other hands, but the record was completed, and an Index was provided, by Mr. Madan.

It was recognized by the Editors that this, though all that could be done at that time, was only the first step. Since 1888 the publications of the Oxford Historical Society and those of Mr. Joseph Foster have made it possible to take a step further. The object of the present volume is to supplement the 'Brasenose Calendar' by annotations derived primarily from College and University Registers, but also from the stores above mentioned, as well as from other sources which time and opportunity have made available. An account of the materials used for this purpose, and of the method of their arrangement, will be given in the second volume, which will also contain an Index to all the names in the Register, together with various Appendixes, and a list of the abbreviations employed.

In a book crammed with facts and dates on every page, mistakes are inevitable, and, apart from this, the Editor is fully aware how imperfectly his object has been attained.

For all errors and omissions the responsibility rests upon himself, and not upon his assistants. He will be glad to receive any corrections and additions for use in the second volume which, it is hoped, will be ready for publication in the course of the present year.

It will be observed that, while the annotations up to the year 1800 are mainly confined to the facts of College and University life, an attempt has been made, though with very incomplete success, to trace the subsequent career of men who matriculated after that date.

The work of arranging the materials gathered by the Editor, and of collecting further information, has been done by Mr. T. H. Penson, M.A., of Worcester College, Mr. P. M. D. Bonnor, B.A., and Mr. W. T. Coxhill, Junior Clerk in the College Bursary. To all these the Editor is deeply indebted, and especially to Mr. Coxhill, to whose zeal, energy, unflagging perseverance and resource, combined with a wide study of the College archives, such merit as the Register may possess is chiefly due.

He must also express his great obligations to Mr. Madan, from whom he has received constant assistance and encouragement, and whose knowledge of University and College history has been of incalculable service. Much interesting information, which would have been otherwise inaccessible, has been obtained from two volumes of Memoranda compiled by Mr. Madan, and comprising a large collection of notes on Brasenose men made by the Rev. J. E. B. Mayor, Professor of Latin in the University of Cambridge.

Finally, the Editor desires to thank all those alumni of the College who have been kind enough to supply him with information about themselves or their relations and friends.

In sending out a book which, however imperfect, may, he trusts, be of interest to Brasenose men, and may stimulate some successor to supplement and improve upon his work, he ventures to borrow the words of his predecessors, the Editors of the 'Brasenose Calendar', and to express the hope that the Register 'will be regarded as a measure not indeed of what the College deserves at his hands, but of his affection for it'.

Brasenose College,
May 15, 1909.

'18 Aprilis huius anni [1589] m^{ro} Iohanni Lawe in artibus magistro et socio Aulae regiae et collegii de Brasennose, propterea quod plurimos istius collegii tam socios quam non socios fictis et turpibus conviciis impie proscidisset, multis etiam modis intollerabilis extitisset: idcirco m^ro^ Principali et sex senioribus sociis ad collegii dicti capellam congregatis, data est dies (eidem, inquam, m^ro^ Iohanni Lawe) ut decima quinta deinceps die vel convicia probaret sua, vel dignam ipse vita intollerabili et petulantia subiret expulsionis poenam, 3° deinceps maii, convenientibus iterum ad capellam m^ro^ Principali et sex senioribus sociis, quum idem m^r^ Iohannes Lawe non modo non probaret convicia et maledicta a se in alios bonae et laudatae vitae coniecta sed et in vita intollerabili etiam persisteret, et magis indies magisque sociis suis bonisque omnibus molestum se praeberet, idque spretis et reiectis plurimorum monitionibus atque cohortationibus tum piis, tum amicis, et privatis (quod omnibus in nostro collegio agentibus constat) et publicis (quod in nonnullis huius registri locis apparet) adeo ut nullam penitus daret sese corrigendi spem: decretum tandem est a m^ro^ Principali coram iisdem sex senioribus sociis, ut praefatus m^r^ Iohannes Lawe omne ius suum in societate dicti collegii resignaret, aliquo die septimanae proxime futura comitia immediate sequentis, vel eo citius, ad evitandam expulsionis infamiam: id quod idem m^r^ Iohannes Lawe fide sua m^ro^ Principali coram iisdem senioribus sociis tum praestita spopondit.'

It appears, however, that this resolution did not take effect, for on 3 July 1590 a grace for B.D. is passed for other members of the College, provided that they do not anticipate John Lawe if he takes the degree within a specified time: and he was apparently still a Fellow when Alexander Nowell resigned the office of Principal in December 1595.

'He had arrived at Brighton on Friday morning, 17 Aug. 1770, and after ordering dinner by two o'clock went to take a walk, but, never returning alive, on Sunday, 19 Aug., his body was discovered by some boys lying flat on his face by the edge of a pathway west of the town close to Brighton churchyard among standing barley. There were several guineas, a pocket-book, &c., found about him. The body was taken to the New Ship and examined by the principal physician of Brighton, Dr. Awsiter, who gave it as his opinion that Mr. G. fell in a fit and was suffocated for want of timely assistance. His library was sold in 1771 by Mr. Fletcher of Oxford.'
